

Questions – Homefront during World War II

Film on Japanese Re-location

1. The relocation of Japanese Americans during World War II was criticized, even during the war, as conflicting with core American democratic values. In this film, the government attempts to reconcile the relocation of Japanese Americans with American democratic values. Explain THREE ways that the film maker attempts to do so.
2. How did the federal government mobilize financial, industrial, and human resources for World War II?
3. How did the impact of World War II on the American homefront differ from the impact of World War I?
4. Explain how the war affected the following groups – Women; Japanese Americans; Mexicans; African Americans.